Executive summary

On 12 February 2026, an email received by a customer of DBS Bank was reported as a suspected credential-phishing attempt. The message claimed that the recipient's DBS/POSB digital token had expired and urged them to update it to maintain access to online banking services.

The email used DBS/POSB branding and a call-to-action link to encourage the recipient to complete the purported token update. However, the sender address, `noreply@substackss.firebaseapp.com`, did not match the claimed banking institution. Preliminary URL reputation analysis also identified suspicious activity associated with the reported destination, although further validation is required to confirm its behavior.

Phishing email

Dear Customer,

We are writing to let you know that the authentication token associated with your DBS/POSB account is no longer valid. As a result, certain online banking services, including card-related transactions, may be temporarily affected.

To ensure uninterrupted access to your digital banking services, please complete the update of your DBS Digital Token.

Update Your DBS Digital Token

Important information:

After completing the update, please allow up to 12 hours before accessing your account. This processing period is required for the changes to take effect.

If you need assistance or further clarification, please contact the

DBS/POSB customer service hotline.

Customers under DBS/POSB Treasures, Treasures Private Client, or Private Banking may reach out to the DBS/POSB Wealth Management hotline for dedicated support.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Yours sincerely,

DBS / POSB Customer Support Team

Phishing indicators

Indicator	Evidence	Why it matters
Urgent language	Banking Services may be Interrupted	Pressures the recipient to act without verifying the request.
Credential harvesting	Requests account verification through a link	Could direct users to a fake login page.
Brand impersonation	Claims to be DBS Bank	Attempts to establish false trust.

Malicious Link	Link goes to credential harvesting website	Requires further URL analysis before determining its actual behavior.

4. Technical investigation

The email originated from 209.85.222.71 a google registered I.P. The from field is noreply@substackss.firebaseapp.com which is legitimately owned google domain

The email cleverly uses legitimate google infrastructure to evade detection.Because of the legitimate infrastructure authentication checks such as DKIM AND SPF pass

The email links to suspicious url https://`email[.]notify.thinkific[.]com` a check of this url on virus total indicates two security vendors report this link as malicious

Incident response recommendations

1. Containment: Quarantine the phishing email and search mailboxes for matching senders, subjects, URLs, and message IDs.

2. Email Removal: Remove confirmed malicious copies from affected mailboxes to prevent further exposure.

3. Indicator Blocking: Block verified malicious URLs, domains, and sender addresses using email security, DNS, and web-filtering controls.

4. Scope Investigation: Identify all recipients and determine whether users clicked the link or accessed the suspicious website.

5. Credential Protection: If credentials were exposed, initiate password resets, revoke active sessions where appropriate, and secure affected accounts.

6. Log Analysis: Review email gateway, DNS, proxy, endpoint, and identity logs for suspicious activity or unauthorized sign-ins.

7. Monitoring and Recovery: Monitor affected accounts for suspicious authentication attempts, account changes, and potential fraudulent transactions.

8. Prevention and Awareness: Strengthen email security controls, review SPF/DKIM/DMARC configurations, and reinforce phishing awareness and reporting procedures.

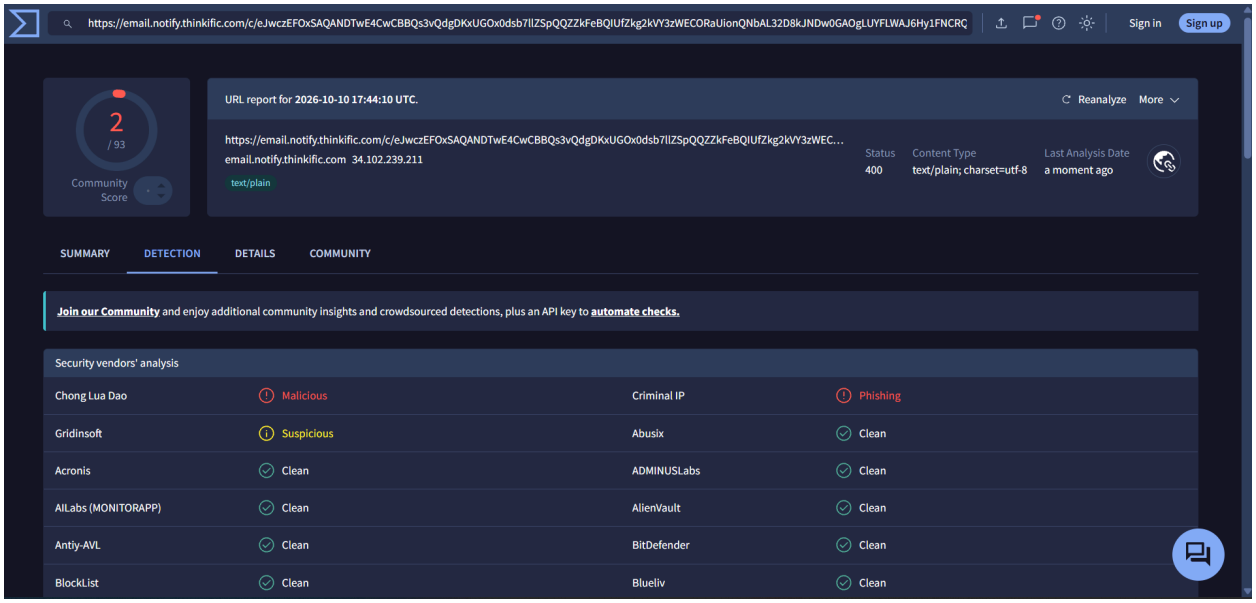

Investigation conclusion

Classification: Credential phishing attempt

Risk rating: High

Recommended disposition: Quarantine and investigate affected users.
